

FROM THE ALUMNI DESK.....

Dear PPCians Season's Greetings to all of you.

I was one Among the many fortunate alumni who had attended the meet on 23.09.2018. I sincerely thank all the Teaching, Non-teaching staff and Alumni association for giving us an opportunity to refresh memories stored in our hard disk (mind).

The following write up/paragraph is produced mainly for those who are going to pass out of the college shortly (MBA II year students) BE POSITIVE....

As we all know the fact that challenges are part of our life and in each stage of life we face different challenges, likewise just after completion of Graduation/post-graduation/MBA etc. A question WHAT NEXT? Will run through your mind and body. Friends, yes! we think that this is the right time to take a decision! But we also think what if I won't get through or fail to succeed? Please remember over thinking and giving up before trying is the negativity and negativity like a Devil, once occupies your mind than it commands there on. Being positive is nothing but doing things sensibly without over thinking. By attending an interview, joining first job, switching over existing job we must think sensibly and have positivity within us. If you fail to crack through an interview it doesn't mean that you know nothing, it means that the interviewer didn't get what he/she is searching for, in you. Please keep in mind interviewer is also performing his duty, he is also facing his own challenge, he is not there in the panel to reject us but he is there to select us.

When I said an interviewer is always to select us, I do mean that he is to select among us not all of us. Rather understanding how an interviewer judges you, read your mind etc. if you try to catch up what job profile he is looking for, be shrewd enough and answer what he expects out of you positively your job is half done.

Friends by now you may be well aware of the facts and figures on how many MBA's are passing out in India every year. A survey in the year 2016 says that near about 5.20 lakh students passed out (taken only from approved University) out of which 8 to 10 percent students got placement immediate after completion of the course. Folks does it mean rest of them i.e. Remaining 90% are not eligible? Or they are not competitive enough? Or College is responsible for not getting them placed? Or MBA has less demand in the market? So many thoughts will occupy your mind. I leave you with these questions to introspect.

POSITIVITY IS THE FIRST STEP TOWARDS ANY SUCCESS STORY.

Thank you for taking a moment off to read this.

Regards & Best wishes.
